

Our Autumn/Winter collection is about the art of making space. Space to slow down, to enjoy time for yourself and to focus on what truly matters. In a world that is always moving, a clear and calm home can create room to breathe. Choosing fewer, better things. Creating simple routines. Surrounding yourself with objects that bring ease, beauty and purpose to everyday life. Each design is made to become a natural part of these moments. Objects for the morning coffee, a quiet pause, a shared meal or time spent on your own. Thoughtful materials, refined finishes and considered colours bring warmth and calm to the home.

At Stelton, we believe good design should earn its place, through function, quality and lasting relevance. Rooted in our design heritage, we create objects that are made to be used, enjoyed and kept over time. With steel, refined finishes and the warm, grounded tones of berry red and bark brown, the Autumn/Winter collection celebrates a more considered way of living.

Welcome to My Choices—making space for what matters.

There is value in keeping things simple. Choosing well, creating space and finding calm in
the everyday.
In the objects we
use, the routines
we return to and the moments we make our own.

keep
it simple

Cherry Red is deep, warm and expressive. Inspired by the rich tones of ripe cherries, it adds warmth and character to the home.

Bark is a deep grey-brown inspired by the changing shades and textures of tree bark. Quiet and grounded, it brings a natural sense of balance.

Together, Cherry Red and Bark create a warm, confident base.

Pair them with dark woods, soft neutrals or mix in other hues and lighter pastels to create a more personal expression.

Mix, match and make it yours.

Original winding samples by Vibeke Klint

Vibeke Klint (1927–2019) was the queen of minimalist textiles, known for her simple, graphic style. Her rugs, textiles, and site-specific decorations had a profound impact on Danish textile art, and she is today regarded as a significant contribution to Danish design history.

Passion defined Vibeke Klint's life and work. The Danish textile artist was deeply devoted to weaving, colour, and the expressive power of craft. She believed textiles could be both functional and artistic—and through her passion, she elevated textile art to a new level.

Passion defined Vibeke Klint's life and work. Devoted to weaving, colour, and craft, she believed textiles could be both functional and artistic. With the Soft Home collection, Stelton pays tribute to her legacy—reinterpreting classic craftsmanship through a contemporary Scandinavian lens.

Stelton Soft Home introduces textiles into the home with a collection of bedding and placemats inspired by original weaving samples from Vibeke Klint's archive. Rooted in her remarkable design legacy, the Stelton Soft Home collection bridges classic craftsmanship with contemporary Scandinavian aesthetics, rediscovering timeless techniques through a modern lens infused with an unexpected edge.

At the core of the collection are Klint's original winding samples—intimate compositions of thread and colour that capture her poetic approach to form and rhythm. With great care, Stelton has reinterpreted selected works, honouring Klint's artistry while creating a new visual narrative defined by bold contrasts and subtle statements.

s o f t

Staying true to Vibeke Klint's original work, the placemats draw directly from weaving samples found in her archive. Her remarkable sense of craftsmanship, colour and rhythm is carefully carried into the designs.

Made from 75% recycled PET, 22% recycled OEKO-TEX® STANDARD 100 certified cotton and 3% viscose, the woven material has a soft, tactile feel and is easy to care for. The placemats protect the table while adding warmth, texture and a calm expression to everyday settings.

c a r e

Every Stelton design is created with a long life in mind. Spare parts and thoughtful care help preserve both form and function, allowing materials to age beautifully and our products to be enjoyed for longer. With a few simple care routines, your Soft Home pieces can remain part of everyday life for years to come.

Soft Home Bedding

Daily use / Air your bedding regularly to help keep it feeling fresh. Avoid unnecessary washing to help preserve the softness and colour of the cotton over time.

Maintenance / Machine wash at a maximum of 60°C with similar colours. If possible, air dry naturally to reduce unnecessary wear. Avoid bleach and bleaching detergents.

If needed / Tumble dry when needed. For stains, treat and wash as soon as possible. As cotton is a natural fibre, some shrinkage is expected. The fabric may shrink by up to 5% in total.

Soft Home Placemats

Daily use / Remove crumbs and light dirt after use. Wipe or gently spot-clean small spills when possible to keep the woven surface looking fresh.

Maintenance / For regular cleaning, machine wash at a maximum of 40°C. Air dry naturally to help preserve the shape and tactile quality. Do not tumble dry.

If needed / For more persistent stains, wash promptly and avoid harsh or abrasive cleaning products that may damage the fibres.

Designed to last a lifetime

The EM77 vacuum jug was designed to last a lifetime, as all the components can be replaced if they should break. This extends the service life of the vacuum jug.

Made in Denmark since 1977.

Designed to last a lifetime

The EM77 series, designed by Erik Magnussen, reflects a deep understanding of form and function. This versatile collection features Danish design icons—where form pleases the eye and function refines the taste.

Clean and understated, Vinkel is a versatile lamp series by Studio Terhedebrügge. With simple lines, intuitive features, and a soft,
atmospheric light, Vinkel
is made to fit naturally into any setting.

Waterproof IP65-rated for outdoor use

Protected against dust and rain. Not designed for submersion, hail, flooding, or high-pressure water. Damage from such conditions is not covered by the warranty.

100% solar-powered

Charges exclusively with sunlight. Red indicator shows active charging. Place in a sunny spot for best performance. For optimal performance, solar lamps should be placed where the solar panel gets at least 3 hours of direct sunlight daily.

Weather-based performance

Sunny: 8 hrs charge → 8 hrs light

Cloudy: 8 hrs charge → 3 hrs light

Rainy: 8 hrs charge → 1 hr light

For longer use, keep the lamp off for a few days to reach full charge.

In perfect sunlight conditions, the solar lamp can be charged in 18 hours, with a working time up to 21 hours.

Automatic dusk-to-dawn lighting

Auto mode turns the lamp on at sunset and off at daylight.

Activate with a 3-second press on touch button.

2700 Kelvin – warm and cozy light

Ideal for pathways, gardens, flower beds, patios, and outdoor décor.

”You can see at a glance when proportions work: the mass feels grounded, the transitions are calm, the outline can be read in one breath.”

— Studio Terhedebrügge

The new Vinkel LED lamp series, designed by Studio Terhedebrügge, is created to set the mood both indoors and outdoors. The portable table lamp features an integrated battery, three touch-controlled brightness levels, and convenient USB-C charging. The outdoor spike lamp complements the series with a built-in solar panel and light sensor that automatically switches the light on at dusk and off at dawn, with the option for manual control. Together, the Vinkel lamps unite functional design with a soft, welcoming glow—perfect for creating cozy moments.

MY INSPIRATION

Q&A WITH STUDIO TERHEDEBRÜGGE

Based in Berlin, Studio Terhedebrügge is an award-winning interdisciplinary design studio led by siblings Silvia, Antonia and Julius Terhedebrügge. Working at the intersection of object design and visual communication, the studio moves fluidly between art, culture and design. What began as a shared curiosity in their youth has developed into a mature practice shaped by experimentation and clarity of form. The trio brings together complementary disciplines: Antonia is trained in graphic design, while Silvia and Julius studied product design at the Berlin University of the Arts. Their joint efforts have been recognised through distinctions including an award from the German Design Council. We spoke with the trio about inspiration and design.

What inspires you?

For us, inspiration primarily means maintaining our level of attention. One of us once had a bit of an obsession with grain silos and their different forms. The concept was straightforward: to take minimalist photos of silos against a clean blue sky, ensuring that no other elements were in the frame. Without the background, the essentials are easy to recognise: lines, balance and proportion. The details are no longer hidden. Soon it wasn't just silos anymore; cranes, parts of roofs, gutters, antennas, handrails and chimneys joined the album. This collection of "objects on blue" is inspiring because it removes context and shows what actually carries a form—what to keep, what to cut, and how the proportions should read. You can see at a glance when proportions work: the mass feels grounded, the transitions are calm, the outline can be read in one breath. And you can see when they don't: top-heavy, pinched in the middle, or fussy where it should be quiet.

Similarly, inspiration can simply be derived from the process of creation. A blank sheet of paper, which might be a nightmare for a writer, is for us the quickest start to a new idea. We have the capability to pick it up, cut, bend and fold it; the hands get to play while the head stays light. Prototyping is a process that allows us to turn abstract ideas into tangible solutions. This approach enables us to engage with the concept in a physical and tangible way, allowing our minds to process and grasp the idea more effectively.

What surprised you most about working with Stelton?

The biggest surprise was how the small team enabled such a quick and honest exchange of thoughts. From the initial discussions, Stelton grasped the vision for the lamp—its character, priorities and subtle details—and it felt as though they perceived the lamp in the same way as us. We were on the same wavelength regarding aesthetics and functionality, an alignment that enabled us to make quick decisions and maintain a clear design.

What do you hope people experience when they hold one of your designs?

We spend a considerable amount of time on details that go unnoticed, but that's the point. If the hand says 'yes' before the head does, then the radius and proportions have done their job. The object should feel easy to hold and easy to place, and it should look like it has always belonged there.

On a more serious note, we all have objects that bring us joy every day, not just in the week after purchase. Over time, they earn a place in our routines and we build a relationship with them. If one of our designs becomes that kind of companion—not just 'a lamp', but 'my lamp'—then we're genuinely happy.
